It Couldn't Happen To A Nicer Guy

Governor Romney could not have selected a better choice for a Volunteer Leadership award than St. Joe's most distinguished citizen, Frederick S. Upton.

The retired industrialist was one of ten men and women memorialized last week in joint resolutions by the state legislature as devoting a lifetime of service to their respective communities.

The legislative citations, delivered personally by the governor, are preliminary to celebrating Michigan Week.

The award is based on the recipient's personal accomplishments within his own field of endeavor and the calibre of assistance he has given to the community in which he lives.

Uncle Fred, as many of his friend and admirers address him, stands front and center on both counts.

He joined his brother, Louis and their uncle, Emory, in 1910 when the latter's Upton Machine Company occupied what today would be called an oversize garage engaged in producing a machine to replace a tin tub and a washboard as the means for keeping the family in clean clothes.

Uncle Fred's contribution to the enterprise was the financial skill to hurdle the money perils which plague any business, regardless of size, almost hourly.

Somewhat belatedly, modern writers are turning to the business realm as a source for their material. Most of them stress the drama of production, sales and wheeler dealings. Few, if any, bother with the little known skill of meshing the sales and production kinetics properly.

The two must harmonize if a business is to fulfill its intended purpose. Providing that coordination is a lubricant which might be called the money function. Basically it is the ability to regulate correctly the relative speeds at which the various internal operations should operate.

Uncle Fred brought that little understood, fine art of management to the embryo Upton Machine Company which eventually hatched out into the Whirlpool Corporation.

The neighborhood benefitted from that development.

It is difficult to think of a major civic project around here in which Uncle Fred and the Upton family have not played a major role.

The Boy Scouts, Memorial Hospital, the Crippled Children Society's building and the First Congregational Church's new edifice are a few coming readily to mind.

Twenty-nine years ago he was on the charter commission which pulled St. Joe's city government out of the horse and buggy age into modern times.

He was a leader during that 1931 low spot in bringing a new bank into St. Joseph to fill the void left by the collapse of two financial institutions.

Just as important to a good community life are a host of lesser publicized activities which but for Uncle Fred's assistance would not have gone very far, if at all.

We recall one such in 1964 when the school board had lost two special millage elections to keep the system going. The board then announced an austerity program of sorts which included reducing the athletic program to an intramural affair.

When informed the Maize and Blue might not field any of its teams unless some outside financing could be found, Uncle Fred snorted, "That's a hell of a note," and pitched in forthwith to forestall that dismal prospect.

We could go on and on in this vein, but feel it not necessary.

It would be cumulative only to concluding that Uncle Fred is a man any town would be lucky to list as a resident.

We'll simply say we're glad he decided to leave Chicago 57 years ago and come over here.

speaking of YOUR HEALTH

By Lester L. Coleman, M. D.

How serious are the reasons for coughing up blood? Is tuberculosis the major reason? Coughing up blood is an important sign, one that must not be neglected. Yet the reasons for blood in the sputum need not always be serious. In fact, unimportant conditions far more commonly cause blood streaks in the sputum.

When any amount of blood is coughed up it produces a great deal of anxiety because tuberculosis is the first thought that enters the mind. It is important to track down the cause so that such unnecessary fear can immediately be dispelled.

By far the most frequent reason can be traced to the fact that blood from the gums and teeth run down the back of the throat and is then coughed up. This blood is mistakenly thought to come from the lungs.

There are many tiny blood vessels that lie on the lining of the nose and throat. Sometimes after a slight injury, a cold, or irritation these blood vessels may break, allowing blood to trickle down the back of the throat only to be coughed up.

When large quantities of blood are coughed up, intensive study must be made. X-ray of the chest and sputum examinations contribute important information.

Under special circumstances a bronchoscope is inserted directly into the lungs. By this method almost every area of the lung can be minutely seen to find the exact point of bleeding.

Too often the fears are so great that people delay talking to their doctors. If they can be induced to do so, in most instances they would find that their problem is a simple one that did not justify such anxiety about blood in the sputum.

Can a tattoo be removed from the skin of the arm? All sorts of devices have been tried, but none with any real success to remove these telltale evidences of a youthful error.

Chemicals, surgery and abrasion techniques have been unsuccessfully tried. Sometimes the scar that remains is even more noticeable than the tattoo mark.

I have never known a patient, in almost a quarter of a century of practice who has not regretted the adolescent impulse that made him submit to tattooing. The consistency with which adults regret it must be emphasized to all youngsters so that they will not fall into the same trap.

Despite the fact that tattooing is illegal in many states, young men seem to be able to ferret out places that will still do it. In many instances the process is done under the most unsanitary conditions.

Needles are used on person after person without proper sterilization and can carry infection. In fact, an epidemic of syphilis in a group of high school teenagers was traced to inoculation by electrically driven needles used in the process of tattooing.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH—Anti-allergy drugs tend to make people drowsy. This must be considered by people who are driving automobiles for long stretches. It can be a source of driving danger.

Dr. Coleman welcomes letters from readers, and, while he cannot undertake to answer each one, he will use questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Coleman in care of this newspaper.

A credit affiliate to aid in the wholesale distribution of the RCA-Whirlpool brand line of home appliances went into operation Tuesday at Whirlpool corporation's headquarters. Name of the wholly owned subsidiary is the Appliance Buyers Credit Corporation. The initial authorized capitalization is $10,000,000.

Company officials said this morning that credit extension by the parent corporation down to the dealer level is not planned for at this time. Dis-tributor offices are to be estab-lished in the near future. The credit unit follows a pattern used by many large brand name pro-ducers to smooth over the working capital requirements of their distributors.

Reform In Education

The Ford Foundation and 10 leading universities are starting on a project to reform the doctoral degree programs in the fields of the humanities and social sciences. While they're about it, they hope to improve college teaching in these areas.

This $200-million, seven-year experimental program looks especially interesting because it promises to help bring better balance between the opportunities for students in the humanities and those in the physical sciences.

In the humanities and social sciences, educators say, "obsolete practices" and lack of support have combined to cause a terrible waste of talent. Even in the best schools, they say, fewer than half of those who start doctoral degrees in those fields ever finish their dissertations.

The average student takes seven and a half years to complete graduate study, compared to five years in the natural sciences.

Much of the money for this program will go to support students, especially in the critical period when they are preparing for their comprehensive examinations and working on their dissertations. And the schools also plan an organized system of "apprentice teaching" to better prepare the Ph.D. holders for college teaching.

It is interesting that two imperative reasons for reform are given as the increasing numbers of graduate students, and the increasing amount of public funds being used to pay basic costs of doctoral education.

It is only fair that the nation's universities make the best use of that public money, to provide the best graduate programs possible for the optimum number of qualified students.

Letters To The Editor....

SPRINGTIME

The winter is over and gone, The miracle time draws nigh, As all nature from sleep awakes Underneath the dome of the sky.

We stand in awe at the change That we see and yet are blind To the mystery of God's power That shows that He is kind.

He is kind to give us such beauty For man to love and admire, Such matchless wonderful beauty As a lily that comes from the mire.

These changes that come are silent, So silent we hear not a sound, When He speaks to the earth, "Come forth!" Sleeping life awakes in the ground.

Yes, the ground and the trees give forth A wonder for man to behold And yesterday what seemed dead, Today lives and we see unfold.

Oh, glorious beautiful spring-time, The resurrection of life from the dead, May our lives "come forth" in rejoicing That God lives as He has said, Ida Ellen Miller, Rt. 1, Box 259, Berrien Springs.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Cheating Uncle Sam

Question: what is the differ-ence between tax evasion and tax avoidance?

Answer: five years in the penitentiary.

This old joke is often used by lawyers to illustrate a basic principle of income tax law—that, although evading taxes is illegal, avoiding taxes is not.

In fact, avoiding taxes is not only legal in a technical sense but perfectly ethical as well. Judge Learned Hand once put it this way:

"There is nothing sinister in so arranging one's affairs as to keep taxes as low as possible. Everybody does so, rich or poor; and all do right, for nobody owes any public duty to pay more than the law demands. Taxes are enforced exactions, no voluntary contributions."

Thus, the law itself suggests various ways of saving taxes; by splitting income between husband and wife, by investing in tax-exempt bonds, by using an accelerated rate of depreciation on property.

And there are many tax-saving methods which, even if not actually suggested by the law, are at least within its permissible leeway.

Then where does lawful avoidance end and unlawful evasion begin?

The most obvious evasion is simply to file no tax return at all. But there are other telltale signs—"badges of fraud"—that the law looks for.

TORNADOES SKIP OVER AREA, HIT OWOSSO

Sunday on West Main street, near Twelfth street, Benton Harbor. Carlson suffered broken leg, arm and a severe concussion. Twisters Strike In Eight States

Southwestern Michigan Gets Drenching Rains

Southwestern Michigan escaped damaging weather Sunday night during a severe weather warning, but a vicious tornado struck Owosso in central Michigan late last night, damaging buildings, automobiles and airplanes.

Heavy rain hit parts of southwestern Michigan during the night and more rain was forecast for today. Nearly a week of warm temperatures has pushed bud development in area fruit orchards, and a few earliest blossoms were reported open Sunday.

The same storm system that caused the Owosso tornado, also spawned twisters in eight central states. Vicious thunderstorms rolled from Wisconsin to Oklahoma and gale force winds drove fresh snow into the north central plains late Sunday night and early today.

NO INJURIES
Residents of Owosso, a city of 17,000, escaped injury as the twister hop-skipped across the community. But Betty Matthews, 42, was treated at a hospital for shock after winds overturned her trailer home.

The whirling wind ripped roofs off the Backus Ford Agency and a Dodge agency in Owosso, damaging a number of new and used cars.

It picked up a gasoline service station off M 21 near the city limits and dumped the building onto the highway.

Five planes were damaged when tossed about by winds at the Owosso-Corunna Airport.

FLOODING RAIN
Trees toppled and power lines snapped, blacking out sections of Owosso and Corunna as torrents of rain flooded some Owosso streets with up to two feet of water.

Tornadoes, spawned by the collision of warm and cold air masses, dealt their worst blow at Keosauqua, Iowa, late Sunday, killing one person and injuring a dozen more.

Other damaging twisters were reported in South Dakota, Wisconsin, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, and Arkansas.

B.H. Woman Foils Purse Snatchers

An unsuccessful purse snatching attempt was reported to B. H. police at 9:30 p.m. Saturday, by Earlene Market, 34, of 308 Summit street, Benton Harbor.

She said two Negro youths, about 16 years old, tried to grab her purse while she walked on Jefferson street, near Brunson avenue. She said she was able to hang onto the straps.

City police early Monday morning were investigating break-ins at the Park-More Tavern, 456 South Fair avenue; the Blakeslee Co., 117 Boughton street; and Lou's Grill, 999 Pipestone street, all in Benton Harbor.

Police said a cigarette machine had been opened at the tavern, but no money had been reported taken. Several pens were reported taken from the Blakeslee Co., and nothing had been reported taken from the restaurant.

City police Saturday evening investigated a break-in at Regal Flaming Co., 427 North Hull avenue, where a cash box, containing about $8, had been taken, along with a Boy Scout compass, stopwatch, cigarette lighter and tape measure.

Patrolman Douses Fire
James Harris told police Sunday, a record player and about 45 pennies had been taken from his apartment, 346 South Fair avenue, Benton Harbor.

Benton Harbor Patrolman Herman Pollard put out a blaze in an auto Sunday evening, using an extinguisher in his patrol car.

Benton Harbor firemen, called at 6:35 p.m. to the scene at Lake and Broadway, reported that the auto was operated by Alfred Bragg, route 1, South Haven. Damage was reported minor.

'Successful Failure' Is Defined

Rev. Hoover Back At Napier Church

It is the goal we set in life which determines our happiness or unhappiness, the Rev. William Hoover of Anaheim, Calif., told his former parishioners and many guests at Napier Park-view Baptist church in Benton Harbor Sunday morning.

After a five-year absence, the minister who pastored the Benton Harbor church 15 years and directed the building of the present church, was greeted by a capacity attendance.

His subject was "A Successful Failure." He based his remarks on Luke 12:15-32, the parable of the rich fool, and on St. Matthew 19:27-29 when Christ told His disciples that those who forsake everything for His name's sake "would receive an hundredfold and inherit everlasting life."

He commented that the Bible doesn't say that Christians can't be affluent, have fine homes and social position, or eat, drink (when they drink the right thing) or be merry.

It is when man sets as his only goal in life, wealth, the finest home in the community, high social position and a life of ease and merriment that, though he achieves these things, he can be a dismal failure. For these alone do not make for happiness, the minister emphasized.

CITES DIFFERENCE
"There is a difference in having things and having things have us," he told listeners. He gave as outstanding examples of successful failure the late Marilyn Monroe and the late prominent and brilliant lawyer, Clarence Darrow.

The Rev. Hoover currently is building a $325,000 church in Anaheim. In the pastoring stage now, it is expected to be ready for first services on the first Sunday in June.

Designed by the noted church architect, Joe Colombo, it is very modern in architectural style. It is constructed of stone and stucco and is air conditioned throughout. The auditorium will seat 800. The parking lot will accommodate 200 cars.

The Rev. Hoover says the church property is evaluated at $225,000.

He invited local members and friends to the opening service. The new church is a branch church of the Bethel Baptist church of the pastor left here to minister to. That church outgrew its quarters and divided to form the new church which is known as Sunkist Baptist.

Do You Understand Words In The News?

Like Lockout? Test Yourself With Quiz

What do words like achieve, plebiscite, lockout, peripatetic and concession have in common?

Nothing, except they're the five "stumpers" selected to dismay readers of this week's News Quiz, appearing today on page 7.

All the News Quiz "words in the news," which readers must match with proper meanings, have appeared in newspaper columns recently so the test isn't strictly a guessing match. Lockout, for example, was one term applied in a hassle between truckdrivers and transport firms that grabbed banner headlines recently all across the nation.

"Words in the news" is one of four parts in the News Quiz designed to let readers see if they're locking themselves out of valuable information.

So fight the lockout of knowledge and make no concession to ignorance. Be a peripatetic reader who achieves success in the Weekly News plebiscite.

H. M. SPINK
Historic paper

OWNED BY B.H. MAN Old Paper Tells Of Lincoln Assassination

One hundred two years ago Saturday the nation's press mournfully reported the assassination death of President Abraham Lincoln. He had been shot April 14, 1865, and died the next day.

A New York Herald of April 15, 1865, was found by H.M. Spink, 570 Pearl street, among the effects of his late mother, Mrs. Perry Spink. She obtained it from her mother, Mrs. Peter Fonger.

The old New York Herald is an historic comparison to the special edition produced by this newspaper Nov. 22, 1963, when President John F. Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas. Alleged slayers of both presidents died by gun fire. John Wilkes Booth was shot to death April 26, 1865. Lee Harvey Oswald was killed before a national television audience Nov. 24, 1963.

Spink relates that his impact on history has been much less than the momentous events described in the New York Herald. However his family has left indelible impression on the area — the Spinks are from where Spinks Corners derives its name.

U.S. Troops Move North In S. Viet

Fighting Hiked In Border Area

SAIGON (AP) — More American troops have been shifted into new positions in the northern part of South Vietnam to meet increasing Communist pressure in a crucial border area, the U.S. command disclosed today.

Troops of the U.S. 1st Cavalry Airmobile Division have taken over an operational area in Quang Ngai Province about 350 miles north of Saigon, a spokesman said, and have killed 100 enemy there in action that began April 8.

No major fighting was reported across the country today, but the Viet Cong appeared to be stepping up terror tactics aimed at disrupting local elections and intimidating local officials.

NO 'WALL'

GIO LINH, South Vietnam (AP) — U.S. Marines who are clearing a 200-yard-wide dirt strip just south of the demilitarized zone say there are no plans to fortify their "firebreak."

To help stop North Vietnamese men and materials from crossing the zone into South Vietnam, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky said a "fortified barrier zone" is to be built along the entire lowland expanse of Quang Tri, South Vietnam's northernmost province — about half the width of the 30-mile long zone.

U.S. sources will vouch only for the firebreak being built along the 6 1/2 miles between the U.S. artillery position on Route One at Gio Linh and the village of Con Thien on the west.

EUROPEAN CUT?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J.W. Fulbright said today the United States ought to cut its European troop commitments in half in recognition of relaxing East-West tensions.

The chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee predicted in an interview a special committee of which he is a member will find substantial reasons to back a resolution calling for a reduction of the six American divisions now there.

ROTTERDAM (AP) — The 33,627-ton Liberian tanker Diane caught fire after a dawn collision in fog off the Dutch coast early today and two of her 39 crewmen were reported missing.

Radio messages said nine crewmen were still aboard the stricken tanker and 28 others were picked up by the Dutch freighter Steenkerk.

KOREAN CONFLICT

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — South Korea said its jet planes sank a small North Korean armed ship today when it intruded into southern waters, opened fire after orders to halt, and tried to flee.

The navy said one North Korean died of wounds after being picked up from the water. It said five others were taken to the port of Incheon after the sinking off the west coast.

Education By Injection

from the trained donors to the recipients," Ungar said.

Essman and Lehrer used the same extract injection technique to test the effects on animals seeking a left or right escape from their maze. They obtained from the brain cells of trained mice an extract of ribonucleic acid, a substance involved in the transmission of hereditary traits.

They found that the majority of mice which were injected with extract from the brains of mice taught to select the left-hand escape route followed that path. A right-handed pattern prevailed among mice receiving extract from mice taught to leave by that route.

CHEMICAL TRANSFER

Ungar said learned information can be transferred by chemical means and that "the chemical nature of its coding can hardly be doubted."

He theorized that nerve cells in the brain are labeled by a specific chemical molecule and that when the cells of two different channels are activated simultaneously "they exchange their chemical labels and thereby establish a new connection between the two channels."

"Ferrelli was all over the battlefield, checking out the positions, helping with the wounded, rallying his men when the Viet Cong attacked."

"When he was with me," said Gorman, "Ferrelli could have won the Silver Star a half dozen times for his devotion to duty and his courage."

The sergeant major went home to terminate his 23-year Army career sooner than he planned because a son is ill.

"Maybe he just couldn't bear to leave his men back there in the field while he was going home," a 1st Division officer commented.

"Possibly this made him feel unworthy. He must have felt strongly because few men turn down the silver star."

Turning down a gallantry medal is not so automatic, however. The decoration will stay on Ferrelli's record, no matter what he tries to do about it. And Gorman plans to send the medal back to Ferrelli.

Also killed: Elmer Begick, 42, and his wife, Elsie, 35, of Bay City, in a two-car, head-on collision at the crest of a hill Sunday two miles north of Barton City in Alcona County.

But he never once in the 40 pages mentioned the violence or viciousness of the Viet Cong against their own people in South Vietnam.

In a later speech — one newspaper said it was a clear effort to counter criticism for his omission in the April 4 talk — he did mention the other side but very guardedly.

He said, "I am not absolving Hanoi or the Viet Cong of their responsibilities." This whole performance by King was one-sided.

'KILLING CHILDREN'

King, assuring his listeners he was speaking as a matter of conscience, claimed U.S. bombing may have killed one million Vietnamese, "mostly children," although he never said where he got his figures.

After this speech the Jewish War Veterans of America accused King of "pandering" to Ho Chi Minh; Whitney Young Jr., head of the National Urban League, took issue with King, saying he thought the civil rights and the antiwar movements should be kept separate; and Ralph Bunche, a Negro and undersecretary of the United Nations for political affairs, said the same thing.

The criticism was climaxed when the 60-member board of the NAACP unanimously declared "the civil rights battles will have to be fought and won on their own merits, irrespective of the state of war or peace in the world."

DENIES MERGER

King said he was saddened that the NAACP would join in the perpetuation of a "myth." The myth, he said, is that he advocates the fusion of the civil rights and peace movements. He said "a coalition on particular issues does not mean a merger."

But the American College Dictionary says a coalition means a "union" or "fusion." And, just in case there might be uncertainty, it says a "fusion" means a "coalition."

Last Saturday in New York — where Carmichael followed him to ridicule President Johnson as a "buffoon" — King addressed a massive antiwar demonstration.

This time he said he had not proposed a "mechanical fusion" of the civil rights and peace movements. He didn't need any mechanical devices. He didn't even have to get upset about the word "fusion" since the one he prefers, "coalition," means "fusion."

Ask Milk Import Restrictions

Michigan Bloc Wants Tightening

WASHINGTON — Congressman Edward Hutchinson announced today that he had joined with other Michigan Representatives in introducing legislation designed to regulate imports of milk and other dairy products.

In introducing H.R. 8496, the Fourth District Congressman said "It is obvious that present dairy import restrictions are proving inadequate to halt the rising flood of dairy products from other countries."

Hutchinson said "the future of the American dairy farmer is at stake" and pointed out that imports of dairy products and milk equivalents increased by more than 300 per cent during 1966.

Butterfat and cheese, equal to nearly three billion pounds of milk came into American markets last year, he said, "and almost two billion pounds were imported in the form of products designed to evade present import restrictions."

Hutchinson said that "ultra-conservative estimates indicate these added imports are responsible for depressing milk prices by at least 20-cents per hundred pounds."

"LOSING $1,750" He pointed out that this represents an average loss of $1,750 in income for every American dairy farm.

Hutchinson's bill establishes a ceiling on dairy imports based on the average of all milk products imported during the years from 1961 through 1965.

The proposed legislation also would close the door on imports of butterfat and sugar mixtures which have been devised to circumvent existing import restrictions.

LMC BOARD VOTES $40 TUITION INCREASE

Will Go
In Effect
Next YearNew Budget
Is Approved;
Costs Up 5%

A $40 per year boost in tuition at Lake Michigan college next year was voted by the board of trustees at their meeting Saturday night.

The increase, to $240 a year, was approved in order to balance a $1,277,340 operating budget for 1967-68. The budget, adopted after a public hearing, is nearly 5 per cent over the current one.

By a split vote, the board turned down an administration proposal that would have held the tuition hike to $25. President Robert Plummer had proposed using 55 per cent of the one-mill property tax that comes to the college for operating costs and 45 per cent for capital improvements. Voting 5-to-2, the board upheld an understanding at the time the college was voted into existence that the one-mill levy would be divided 50-50 between operating and building needs.

STATE AID STAYS SAME

Announced plans by Governor Romney to reduce state support to community colleges unless his so-called tax reform program is adopted, did not effect the new LMC budget.

Actually, President Robert Plummer said state aid for community colleges has been overbudgeted in past years. The governor's plan is to give community colleges $325 per student—the same as this year—for up to 50,000 students. Only if the state enrollment goes over 50,000 will this state aid figure be cut. Plummer predicted the number of community college students will not exceed 50,000. There are 48,000 in the state this year.

He suggested the draft and enlists for the Vietnam war will prevent any big gain in college enrollment next year. In fact, he noted that Western Michigan university is going to admit more freshmen next year because of reduced enrollment.

There were no hopes of an increase in state aid for community college students, even if an income tax is passed, according to Plummer. He said Governor Romney told a group of administrative officials from various community colleges the $325 figure would not be increased in any event.

The LMC head said a cut in state funds next year would, however, knock out $305,000 scheduled for the new LMC campus building program. It would lop the heating plant appropriation for the maintenance building, for which construction is scheduled early in the 1967-68 fiscal period.

DONALD GOODWILLIE JR.

PAW PAW—Van Buren Prosecutor Donald Goodwillie, Jr., was elected president of the county bar association during a meeting last week at Paw Paw. Goodwillie, 27, succeeds Atty. Robert J. Scherrie, who formerly had an office in Paw Paw. Scherrie has since moved out of the county.

Goodwillie was admitted to the Michigan bar in 1964 after graduation from the Detroit College of Law and practiced law for about a year and one-half with the firm of Neal & Grier at South Haven.

He was named prosecutor on Jan. 1, 1966.

an estimated $64,000 next year. The $40 increase will apply to both resident and non-resident students. Part-time students will be upped $1.50 per credit hour.

A comparison showed the new tuition is no higher than is charged at 11 of the 22 community colleges in the state this year. It was suggested the other schools may be forced to make tuition boosts, too, for next year. LMC's current $200 tuition is sixth lowest in the state.

Trustees Emily Foster and Dean Kimmerly sided with the administration proposal to divide the one-mill property levy on a 55-45 basis, to hold the tuition boost to $25. Opposing any change in the millage division between operating and building were Chairman Robert Small, Dr. A.F. Bliesmer, Dr. Bernard Radde, Harry Nye and Beryl Dominy.

Mrs. Foster voted against a subsequent motion to boost the tuition rate, and Kimmerly abstained.

Virtually all of the $58,840 increase in next year's budget over this year is scheduled for salary increases and added personnel. It includes $48,000 more for faculty salaries and $10,000 more for administration salaries. The sum budgeted for faculty salaries in 1967-68 is $683,050, and the amount for administration salaries is $93,430.

A breakdown of the operating budget expenditures shows $875,470 for instructional costs, $115,180 for administration, $143,750 for facilities operation and maintenance, $102,600 for insurance, rent and other fixed charges, and $42,840 for equipment, furniture and improvements.

ACCEPT BOOK GIFT

In other actions, the board accepted a gift of $360 worth of new technical books from the American Foundrymen's society. It also adopted a timetable for the campus building plans that will see final working drawings reviewed by May 22, contracts awarded on June 19 and construction started by June 30.

The trustees acted to rescind action of last May to place a $90,000 bequest from the estate of Henry C. Hatch in a library fund. Because the late Mr. Hatch's will specified it was to be used for building construction, the money now will be devoted to the building program.

A $500 retainer fee for the college's new general legal counsel, Attorney Harold Klute of Niles, was okayed for the remainder of this school year. A $1,000 retainer was voted for next year.

The board approved building of 210 feet of sidewalk from a parking lot adjoining the practical nursing center, but delayed action on graveling or black-topping that parking area.

A $4,250 contract was awarded to J.V. Burkett to clear fences and various buildings and foundations from the new campus property.

A $1 activity fee for part-time students taking less than eight credit hours was adopted. The next meeting will be April 24.

Is Outlined To City Commission

WATERVLIET—Arden Rowley, manager of Harding's Market in Watervliet, recently presented a proposed plan to the Watervliet city commission for the expansion of the present building to include facilities for a drug store.

Rowley announced the purchase of the old Wieser supermarket building and the property formerly owned by Raymond Camp to be used for an addition on the north of the present building, and an addition on the south end of the store will provide the drug store facilities.

The plan further calls for the relocation of Short street, running between Harding's and the Wieser and Camp buildings, to provide space for a larger parking area for the enlarged store. Rowley said the cost of the relocating of the street and the sewer and water mains would be assumed by Harding's.

HOSPITAL STAND

E. C. Baiers, representing the board of the Watervliet Community hospital, pointed out that any expansion of the hospital would have to be on the south end of the present structure, bringing the hospital building up to the proposed market building. Rowley said the market would be willing to give the hospital an easement allowing a drive around the hospital, should it be needed.

Judd DeYoung, owner of the Watervliet Rexall pharmacy, told the commission he intends to lease the proposed drug store facility to be located in the Harding building.

It was recommended that Shore street, now 38 feet wide, be widened to 45 feet and that a curb and gutter be put on the south side of the street. No action was taken by the commission.

The commission agreed to pay 40 per cent of the cost of a sidewalk on the west side of the Gerhart Sonnenberg property with Sonnenberg assuming the entire cost of the repair needed on the sidewalk on the north side.

The next meeting of the commission will be held on May 2.

Origin of the fire which is believed to have been started in the children's bedroom is unknown. Partially covered by insurance, Mrs. Schlipp estimated the damage at $15,000 to $20,000.

The family had arisen before 8:30 a.m. and taken Schlipp to work in Benton Harbor. They returned around 11 a.m. to find the blazing house.

The entire home had recently been newly furnished.

GALIEN—A break down in the well that supplies water to the main school building in Galien today caused school officials here to close the entire school system for the day. School superintendent Harold Whipple related that workmen are trying to replace deteriorated sandlogged pipes in the well and that hopefully the schools can be opened tomorrow. If the 15-year-old well cannot be repaired, a new one will be drilled, Whipple said. The well broke down Saturday. If school is called off for more than one day, Whipple added, that time will be made up by continuing the school year beyond the usual June 2 closing date.

Persistent Cases.

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science has found a substance with the ability, in most cases—to shrink hemorrhoids, stop burning itch and relieve pain without surgery except in unusually severe or persistent cases.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, very striking improvement was reported and verified by doctors' observations. Pain and itching were promptly relieved. Then this substance starts right in to gently shrink hemorrhoids.

Floyd Mattheussen, former state representative from Coloma, announced today that the second meeting of the Legislative Information Committee will be held in Lansing, Thursday, May 4, at 8 p.m. in the Jack Tar hotel.

The Legislative Information Committee (L.I.N.C.) is an advisory committee to the House Democratic Caucus. It was formed to bring a broader, statewide representation of views on public issues to the Democratic Caucus.

The first meeting of L.I.N.C. was held in early March, Erlandsen said. "At that time the Caucus received reports from L.I.N.C. on the views of the people in my district and reports were given by Representatives on the status of important bills in the Legislature."

"L.I.N.C. also agreed to undertake a campaign to encourage voter registration. At that time it was announced that the immediate goal of the campaign is the re-registration of every voter whose registration was cancelled because he failed to vote in the 1966 elections."

"This is the second in a series of meetings to be held between the House Democratic Caucus and former Democratic State Representatives."
